Main Topic: The Art of War for Business Change

To make a meaningful difference in an IT project a tester can revolutionise their role from a checker and mock user, to a 'make it work' role. Exceptionally more challenging and very effective on the success of the project. Joe's presentation will help you move from a soldier to a leader.

The presentation will apply Sun Tzu's wisdom, from his military treatise, to help strategise and navigate through the (hopefully, less blood stained) battleground that is IT Projects and Business change.
